ON HUMAN RIGHTS EDUCATION
Department of Political Science
Mangaldai College
(November to February)
Session: 2022-23

The issues of Human Rights are of utmost importance in the present society. Accordingly spreading the idea of Human Rights Education among all also has become important for protection and promotion of human rights. Human rights are inherent and integral part of every human life. The term 'Human Rights' refer to those rights that are considered universal to humanity, regardless of citizenship, residency, status, ethnicity, gender or other considerations. Supported by several international conventions and treaties including the UDHR1948, the Human rights include political, economic, social and cultural rights such as right to life, liberty, education and equality before law, right of association, belief, free speech, information, religion, movement and nationality. The UN Decade for Human Rights Education (1995-2004) defined Human Rights Education, "a lifelong process by which people at all levels of development and in all strata of society learn respect for the dignity of others and the means and methods of ensuring that respect in all societies." Thus imparting knowledge on Human Rights Education will teach all to respect the dignity of each other and to promote a healthy, cooperative and peaceful life in society. It is also the duty of the government to recognize the claims of the people; their exclusive and inalienable rights. Thus the true essence of democratic society lies with the recognition of these human rights as universal rights. This certificate course on Human Rights Education aims to develop the knowledge, skills and values of human rights to the young generations.
